Applying for Sick Leave

Employees will request sick leave in advance, if possible, by submitting applications for leave to the appropriate approving official. If advance notice is not practical, employees will apply for sick leave as soon as possible on the first day of absence. They also may be required to request leave each succeeding day, unless the supervisor says a daily call is not required because the condition clearly establishes that the employee will be absent for an indeterminate or specific period.

Documentation supporting an absence for sick leave must be filed within the pay period the employee returns to duty. The following table states forms of documentation required to support an absence for sick leave:

If the absence is:	Then the required documentation is:
3 days or less	Application for leave, written or electronic.

Application for leave and a medical certificate or other acceptable documentation supporting the absence. If the employee did not consult a physician on behalf of himself/herself (or a family member as appropriate), a personal certificate stating the nature of the illness and the reason(s) a physician was not seen may be accepted, at the discretion of the supervisor.

Medical documentation must be provided within 15 calendar days after the date of the supervisor's request. If this is not practical, despite the employee's diligent, good faith efforts, the documentation must be provided within 30 calendar days after the date it was requested. If the documentation is not provided within the timeframe, the employee is not entitled to sick leave (FR Vol. 71, No. 157, dated August 17, 2006).

An employee who is requesting sick leave to care for a family member with a serious illness must provide a written statement from the health care provider concerning the family member's need for psychological comfort and/or physical care. The statement must certify that the:

- Family member requires psychological comfort and/or physical care;
- Family member would benefit from the employee's care or presence; and
- Employee is needed to care for the family member for a specified period of time.

Use Form WH-380F, Certification of Physician or Practitioner, or equivalent document, when requesting sick leave to care for a seriously ill family member.

The minimum charge for sick leave is 15 minutes or multiples thereof. Employees will not be charged sick leave for more than their daily, weekly, or biweekly basic work requirement.

Charging Sick Leave

- For employees on flexible work schedules (e.g., maxiflex, AMS-Flex, etc.) the maximum amount of sick leave that may be charged for a day is the number of hours they were scheduled to work, as indicated on their tour of duty designation.
- Employees on compressed work schedules (i.e., 5-4/9, 4/10) will be charged for the number of hours scheduled to work on the day leave is taken.
- Part-time employees are charged for the number of hours scheduled to work on the day leave is taken. (This also includes mixed-tour employees when assigned to a part-time schedule.)
- For employees on first-40 or first-8-hour indefinite tours of duty, not more than 8 hours of leave may be charged for a day.

When sickness occurs during a period of annual leave, the period of illness may be charged to sick leave.

Sick leave will not be charged when:

When Sick Leave Will Not Be Charged

- An employee is on scheduled sick leave and all other employees are excused from performance of their duties because a nonworkday has been established by Executive Order or Administrative Order. Administrative Order, as used in this context, should not be confused with the administrative dismissal authority delegated to agencies as found in Section D. Administrative Orders are typically applicable to all Federal agencies; administrative dismissals apply to individual agencies or localities due to specific situations.
- An official in charge of the program determines that local conditions prevent employees from reporting to work due to local, State, territorial holidays, or national holidays of foreign countries.

Note: See Section D, Excused Absence for detailed information on excused absences.

This table gives guidance on the amount of accrued sick leave that may be granted for certain circumstances:

Reason for requesting sick leave:	Amount that may be granted:
Employee's own illness or disability	All available accrued sick leave if supported by a medical certificate or other administratively acceptable documentation.
Adoption-related purposes	All available accrued sick leave, if the absence meets conditions for granting sick leave, including administratively acceptable documentation, as required.
Family care or bereavement purposes	Full-time employee: Up to 104 hours (13 days) each leave year, regardless of the amount of accrued sick leave to his or her credit. Part-time employee: Up to the number of hours of sick leave he or she normally accrues during a leave year.
Amount of Sick Leave That May Be Granted	Form WH-380-F, FMLA Medical Certification for a Family Member's Serious Health Condition, or equivalent document should be used when requesting this leave. Full-time employee: Up to 480 hours (12 workweeks) each leave year. Part-time employee: An amount of sick leave equal to 12 times the average number of hours in the employee's scheduled tour of duty each week.

The situations below describe how the various sick leave entitlements interact.

Interaction of 13 Days of Sick Leave for General Family Care and 12 Weeks of Sick Leave for a Serious Health Condition.

An employee can use 13 days of sick leave each leave year for general family care or bereavement. In addition, most employees may use up to 12 administrative workweeks of sick leave each leave year to care for a family member with a serious health condition. If an employee previously used any portion of the 13 days of sick leave for general family care or bereavement purposes in a leave year, then that amount must be subtracted from the 12-week entitlement. If an employee has already used 12 weeks of sick leave to care for a family member with a serious health condition, he or she cannot use an additional 13 days in the same leave year for general family care or bereavement.

Interaction of Sick Leave with Basic FMLA Leave. Sick leave and FMLA are two separate entitlements. An employee has an entitlement to use his or her accrued sick leave in addition to invoking FMLA. For example, if an employee takes 12 weeks of sick leave to care for a parent with a serious health condition and then invokes FMLA, the employee has exhausted his or her entitlement to sick leave to care for a family member with a serious health condition and cannot substitute any sick leave (but may substitute annual leave) for the 12 weeks of unpaid leave under FMLA. The employee providing care for a family member is eligible to use a total of 12 weeks of sick leave and then 12 weeks of unpaid leave under FMLA, and may substitute any annual leave for the unpaid FMLA leave.

Interaction of Sick Leave with FMLA to Care for a Covered Service Member. An employee may substitute any of the employee's accrued annual or sick leave for any part of the 26-week period of unpaid FMLA leave to care for a covered service member. There are no limitations on the substitution of sick leave as there are for basic FMLA leave. For example, an employee can use 12 weeks of sick leave to care for her son who has been injured in combat and then invoke FMLA leave to care for a covered service member and substitute another 26 weeks of sick leave for unpaid FMLA leave. The employee may also substitute annual leave, or request donated
